WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING ABOUT DR. KING

I have been trying to get this information for several years, and no one could give me answers or tell me where to find them. Dr. King provided everything in one hour with additional resources. I can't believe how easy this is to understand when she explains it!

~ Bonnie, CA

Our participants were so inspired and excited at the new opportunities for learning through digital media with your keynote. You worked so carefully to design a keynote presentation, which would address the needs of our group... You far exceeded our expectations. Thank you! ~ Janet, MN

Dr. Kathleen P. King

Biographical Overview

Dr. Kathy King is a professor of education at Fordham University's Graduate School of Education in New York City, president of Transformation Education, LLC and a certified professional life coach. King's major areas of research include distance learning, digital media, transformative learning, professional development, and instructional technology. Dr. King is the author of 17 books and over 125 published articles and research papers. Her books and web-based audio materials are used as course materials in universities around the world and have a large following. She has led the development of numerous local and global innovative educational projects reaching over 6.4 million learners through technology; most of these efforts have been underwritten by corporate, federal and state grants.
